All the while, we have been perfecting our methods to the point where we can convert a car quickly, easily - and with less than $150. Some of our customers have reported MPG increases of 70%...

And that isn't even the best part...

Is it really possible to run my car on water?

The simple answer to this is YES - after all, over 1,400 Customers can't be wrong.

We have spent over 15 years simplifying the process to produce a system that...

- ➔ Is EASY to get started with (you could be unlocking free fuel in a few hours)
- ➔ Works 100% with any car, SUV or truck (and is fully reversible)
- ➔ Means Cleaner Emissions from day one (our system use plain old tap water)
- ➔ Starts SAVING you money in a very short amount of time (as much as $144 per month).

"Water: The Secret To Free Energy..."

Running your car on water as well as gas might attract national news coverage today, but the truth is, water has been our secret weapon for over a decade now.

Our names are Neil and Sam Prendergast - and we first began using the idea back in the early 1990's when Neil used to race cars as a hobby.

Fast forward a decade and we have developed a system that is easy to install, can be done for under $100 - and dramatically cuts fuel bills in a short space of time.

Our system now allows Neil to boast records of 12.5 seconds down a 1/4 mile strip and for racing enthusiasts seconds really do count!

So How Much Will It Cost To Convert My Car?

All the materials you need are readily available at your local store for under $100, and we include detailed step-by-step instructions with simple and straightforward diagrams for you to follow in the comfort of your own home.

Our guide is fully revamped for 2008 and includes details of suppliers where you can get materials at dirt cheap prices for customers in the US and the UK...

Plus, unlike with many other "run your car on water" guides on the net, because we are mechanics and we do this for a living, you receive full support...

So How Does The Technology Work?

The truth is that you don't need to understand the process - we have spent over 15 years doing the "hard work" so you don't have to. But here's the basic idea...

When you convert your car to a water-burning car, water is used to supplement fuel. This increases your car's fuel efficiency and significantly reduces fuel costs. Very little water is needed: one quart of water provides over 1800 gallons of HHO gas which can last for months.

In essence, you use both water and gas to power your car, resulting in maximum efficiency..

Now let's look at your potential savings...

You Could Save Thousands of Dollars...

The moment you unlock this source of "free energy", you will be amazed...

Based on 10,000 miles a year and 28 mpg, fuel at $9 would cost $3214.80:

- A 25% increase in 25 mpg would save $642 a year!
- A 50% increase in mpg would save $1071 a year.
- A two-car family could save approximately $2142 a year.

Seriously. Look At The Potential Savings...

The table below is based on extensive road tests and customer feedback.

Of course results will vary from vehicle to vehicle and road conditions at the time but the bottom line is that we have a proven track record of slashing our customers fuel costs - just look at the potential savings...

	Water Expert	Other Device	Hybrid Car
Your investment	$150	$1,000-3,000	$15,000
You save per month	$104	$104	$29

PROOF: Over 1,400 Successful Installations - Savings of $144 per month, 75% in MPG...

I'm already seeing a great improvement ...this morning, I was averaging 25 mpg in my mx5 without the kit operational, now I'm doing 45 mpg !

That's a £80 a month ($160) saving... very impressed...

Many Thanks,
Steve, Sheffield, UK (Mazda MX5)

Hello Neil... Thanks for your reply and advice.. I have done a test run of 110 miles, and am very impressed with what has happened..

The engine is quite a bit quieter, and smoother, with better torque, and the exhaust is virtually pollutant free with early results indicating a 75% increase in MPG. Will keep in touch and let you know how we get on..

Regards, Bob. California

In my first trip after I had fitted the system I needed 17.5 litres of regular diesel, when before I needed 28 litres.

The improvement according to the results is at least 70%.I must confess I was very surprised but im also very pleased because this could be the answer for the future.

Now I plan to fit the system in my other car a Merc model 95 and I'm curious to see what the results will be.

My best regards to Neil.

Alex, London
